Our Opinion

“ The Azorean landscapes are like nothing I’ve ever experienced in my extensive European travels. They’ve got volcanoes growing out of their volcanoes, they cook their food in the warm volcanic soils, they’ve got the world’s happiest cows and, they’ve got some spectacular whale and dolphin watching. ”

Trip Overview

Rich green plant life covers the ground, steam rises into the air and rugged volcanic landscapes tower above. You'd be forgiven for thinking you've just travelled to Hawaii or indeed Jurassic Park but the Azorean Islands are in fact, a European hidden treasure.

Perhaps it's their location in the mid-Atlantic that keeps the Azores off the tourist map. However, with easier-than-ever travel routes, it is completely bewildering to us that tourists aren't flocking here.

With its picturesque landscape and seascapes, an abundance of wildlife and a wealth of activities on offer, the Azores leave everyone who visits in awe. During your holiday, you'll have several opportunities to discover its natural wonders.

You'll see wildlife all around you but it's the ones below the surface that truly inspire. Head out onto the Atlantic for a whale and dolphin watching tour.

In almost every direction, you'll see evidence of the volcanic activity in the Azores. During a trip to Furnas, you'll learn all about the volcanic action that shaped the islands.

Exploring the surroundings even further at Sete Cidades, you'll also have the option to cycle around and kayak across impressive crater lakes.

During your time here, you'll experience how the Azores offer a perfect combination of slow island life with plenty to see and do. Just make sure you don't brag too much when you're home – we'd love to keep these islands to ourselves for as long as possible!

Though there are no guarantees, whales and dolphins are regularly seen during these half-day tours. As well as this, you may see turtles, seabirds and other marine life.

Before you set off, a marine biologist will provide a briefing. You'll learn about the different cetacean species, safety measures aboard, how to respect the animals as well as some historical facts.

Once you're back on land, your afternoon is free to spend as you wish.

Included Meals: Breakfast

VOLCANIC TOUR TO FURNAS

Today is all about exploring the volcanic landscapes of the Azores.

Your first location of the day will be a real highlight for tea-lovers. You will visit Gorreana Tea Estates, one of Europe's oldest remaining tea plantations. In addition to seeing the growing areas, you will, of course, get to sample some of the tea produced here. If you are a fan of Green Tea then you are in for a real treat, the local varieties are fabulous.

You will then go to the Caldeiras das Furnas to see the volcanic activity at work. Here, you'll see fumaroles and mineral springs. Make sure you try the water from each spring as you might notice the variety in tastes because of the different minerals present.

At lunch, you have the chance to try the local dish of Cozido das Furnas. This is the classic Portuguese 'cozido' which is a stew of slow-cooked meats and vegetables but with an Azorean twist. Here, the locals really make use of the geothermal activity and cook this delicious meal using the natural steam from the ground!

Following lunch, you will have the chance to look around the exceptional Terra Nostra Botanical Gardens. Filled with a variety of plant life, this is a captivating visit which includes the fantastic opportunity to unwind in the iron-rich waters of a geothermal pool. The waters have a soothing temperature of around 35°C to 40°C and the minerals present will leave you feeling deeply relaxed. (Please take old swimming costumes as the mineral water will stain them a light brown colour).

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch

JEEP TOUR, CYCLING AND KAYAKING AT SETE CIDADES

After fuelling up on breakfast, you'll have an adventurous day exploring the west side of São Miguel.

On the way, you will stop at various viewpoints to enjoy this beautiful landscape. One of the stops will be at the Vista do Rei, probably the most famous viewpoint of Sao Miguel Island. From here you can enjoy the views of the 'Lagoa das Sete Cidades' or 'Lagoon of Seven Cities' that consists of a twin lake formed in the crater of a dormant volcano. The greenish-blues of the water sit between plush green landscapes.

After arriving at the lake, you can explore the surroundings on a 10km cycle ride. The trail is largely flat, with only 10 minutes of uphill peddling which means you can enjoy your surroundings. There is an option to do a tougher route if you're feeling up to the challenge.

There's also the chance to get even closer to the placid lake by kayaking across it.

A picnic lunch is included today.

Back at the hotel, you'll have a free evening to spend your last night as you please. You could head out and sample more of the local cuisine. We'd strongly recommend trying Azorean tapas... black pudding with pineapple might surprise a few people!

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch
