In Brief

A tiny country that is simply brimming with adventure and natural spectacles, there is a huge amount to be enjoyed in Costa Rica. Our Opinion

“ My memories of Costa Rica are plentiful and vivid; it is a truly special country with delightful people and staggering bio-diversity. This holiday highlights some of the natural wonders and the fantastic activities available and in many cases combines the two. Zipping between the treetops high in the rainforest canopy and abseiling down waterfalls with toucans flying above my head are just two of the experiences that truly stand out. I recommend going to see it for yourself. ”

Trip Overview

The saying 'Good things come in small packages' was practically created for Costa Rica.

Despite covering less than 0.05% of the world's landmass, this wonderful country offers a staggering variety of landscapes: pristine coastline, rainforest, cloud forest, mountain ranges, wetlands, and other aquatic habitats. Another huge attraction of Costa Rica is, of course, the incredible variety of fauna and flora, with some five per cent of the world's biodiversity, found within its borders.

Our active holiday itinerary has been crafted to ensure that your family gets to enjoy as many of these natural wonders as possible in an active and fun-filled way. During our adventure holiday you will stand in awe at the foot of a volcano, fly through the treetops, and boat through incredible rainforest canals – all activities are included in the cost of the holiday. One of the advantages of the country's small size is that there are no arduous days full of travel or internal flights in order to enjoy them, as everything is within a manageable distance.

A key highlight of any family holiday to Costa Rica is the fact that you will meet some of the friendliest people on the planet. It has frequently been ranked as one of the happiest countries in the world – from our experience, we can safely say that this is completely true! Studies have determined that locals have the highest level of life satisfaction on Earth. When we asked our friends in Costa Rica if they agreed, they simply replied, "Look around you, who wouldn't be happy here?"

They couldn't be more right!
